THE PLACE TO BUY

That's the most important question that confronts the present day clothing buyer. Important because today there are nine-tenths of the clothing manufacturers who use mixed goods—(cotton and wool)—and endeavor to palm it off as pure wool. They use poor materials and tack on a fancy price and the unexperienced buyer cannot tell the deception while the clothes are new. It takes a few weeks of wear to enlighten him and then it's too late. Why place your confidence in a make of clothing you know nothing about? Wouldn't it be cheaper and more satisfactory to come to us for your clothing needs? We will fit you right, treat you right and guarantee the clothes to be just as represented, and WE'RE HERE TO MAKE GOOD IF THEY'RE NOT. Therefore the place to buy is here.

Allen Doone in Joe Murphy's Great Play.

"The Kerry Gow" Joseph Murphy's famous play, with Allen Doone, Ireland's sweet singing Irish Comedian, in the cast as Dan O'Hara is to be presented at the Grand Opera House Monday Feb. 25.

The Kerry Gow is interwoven with the most charming touches of nature, brightness and artistic excellence. It tells of Dan O'Hara's love for a pretty Nora Drew's love for each other, he is the Kerry Blacksmith (Kerry Gow) the Drews are threatened with the foreclosure of a mortgage on their home, which is held by Valentine Hay, who has offered his love to Nora. When he is refused, Hay uses every possible means to crush the Drews and O'Hara.

His employees mean to hide pikes in O'Hara's forge, and sends word to the English soldiers that O'Hara is making pikes for the rebels. In those days this meant death. They arrest O'Hara, but he escapes. Hay intends to foreclose, but young Drew has a thoroughbred which if it wins a certain race will sell for enough money to pay off the debt. Hay sends away and gets the greatest race horse in the country, to beat Drew's horse. The news of the race is carried to the Drew home by carrier pigeons. Drew's horse wins, and he sells it for enough to pay off the mortgage, while Hay and his henchmen are dragged to jail for conspiracy.

The play is a capital support for Mr. Doone, who is excellent and has been with Mr. Murphy for years. A car load of scenery is carried, and two horses and a donkey and the carrier pigeons, which are used in the race scene.

OVERALL FACTORY.

Grand Rapids to Have a New Institution Which Will Employ About Thirty Hands.

During the past week G. M. Thomas of Princeton was in the city for several days and on Thursday he rented the Lowery building on the east side for the purpose of starting an overall factory. It is the intention to put in about thirty machines at first, as this is all the building will accommodate, and later on, if the business will warrant it the capacity of the plant will be enlarged. The name of the new concern is the Thomas Overall Company.

Mr. Thomas stated when here that it was not the intention to move the Princeton concern to this city for the present at least, the object of their branching out from Princeton being that they could not secure the help necessary there, as the town is not large enough to supply the number of girls they use in an institution of this sort. They expect to open their factory with thirty machines, and have engaged electrical power for the operation of them.

It is expected that their machines will arrive today and that they will commence the installation at once, and expect to be ready to commence operations by the following Monday unless something unforeseen happens. Another point that the managers of the plant expect to benefit by in this city is our exceptional shipping facilities, which cannot be exceeded in any city in the state.

Erected a Soldiers Monument.
R. A. Weeks returned last week from Wautoma where he had been with his crew of helpers to erect a soldiers monument in the court yard of that city.

The money for the new monument, which cost about $2000, was partly made up by an appropriation by the county board, and partly by the Grand Army Post and Woman's Relief Corps and subscriptions by private citizens. The monument is 23 feet high and the bases and cap are of Barre granite, and the whole is set in the figure of a soldier at parade rest made of sheet metal bronze. It is the very neat monument and it is a citizens' monument of Wautoma county should be proud of.

While away Mr. Weeks and his men erected a number of monuments, about two carloads in all. He reports that business in his line has been very good.

Frequent Callers.

Our office from out of town people all got on to the same topic of the growth of our city. Our wonderful railroad facilities, central location in the state and perfect climate. By the way, the boom is on. We can rent to-day two first class stores at fancy rents for good stocks of goods if we had them.

Two applicants this week from merchants out of town who want to come and can't because we cannot find a store building vacant that is suitable.

We told you the boom was here and this proves it.

Take our dope and buy while you can. Cloverdale is the best location. High and dry. Fine streets and lots all staked out and an alley to every lot.

$100 buys a fine lot and you pay $5 down and $5 each month with no taxes or interest the first year.

Truly Wonderful Fruit.

The Tribune is in receipt of a convenient postal card George W. Paulus, who, with his wife and family, is now spending a short time at San Diego, Cal. The card contains a picture of a flat car, on which lies a watermelon, and the melon is as long as the car, and about fifteen feet in diameter. Mr. Paulus states that "they say" that the seeds from one of these watermelons is as large as a most platter. Probably Mr. Paulus will bring a few of the seeds back with him in the spring and convince us of the truth of the statement. It is queer how short a time a man has to be in the west before his ideas begin to enlarge.

"The Popular Lecture and Entertainment Course."

Luo J. Baughman sick and unable to fill his engagement next Saturday evening. He will appear later. To compensate the local management for their extra trouble and expense of advertising, Wm. H. Smith and Mr. Baughman, who failed to fill their dates as announced, The Mutual Lyceum Bureau will send at month's reduced rates, "The National Ladies' Quartet." They will appear at the Lyceum on Saturday eve Feb. 23. This is an extra number to meet an additional expense on the part of the local management and they have decided to order to give the people who have supported the course, and to fill the house on short notice, to cut the price right in two, 25 and 50c.

The National Ladies' Quartet is one of the strongest companies sent out by the Lyceum Bureau. Their quartet work, instrumental and vocal solos are the finest, while their render is superb. The songs of our own land are not forgotten, but the less familiar but no less popular folk-songs of other nations are also sung in pleasant and form a most novel and instructive feature. Among these are the Irish, Scotch, Swedish, Spanish, Italian, Japanese and Gypsy, and also plantation melodies of our own land in costume. One of the original and striking specialties is "The Federation of Plays" copyrighted 1905, by Ithaca Hall Bohmyer. This is as good as the Eva Bartlett Macy Company. Let nobody miss this treat when under the circumstances you can hear it for half price. At the Methodist church. No reserved seats. You will see and hear for half price. You will see and hear perfectly from any part of the room.

A Change in Location.

J. T. Schumacher has been making the preparations for a change in location for sometime past, and he reports to the Tribune that all arrangements have now been completed. He has leased the new store building in the Wood County National Bank block, and also the store in which W. H. Barnes is now located, and expects to move into his new quarters about the first of May. An archway will be cut thru from one store to the other, and this will give him frontage on both streets.

The new store will be used for a dry goods department, and after a new front is put in the place where the candy kitchen is now located, this will be used for groceries and gent's furnishing goods. He expects to also have the basement under the old building so arranged that he can use it as a bargain department.

The new location when fixed up in proper shape will be one of the best in the city, and as he intends to dispose of about all of his present stock rather than to move it, he will undoubtedly have a fine place.

The old Spafford building has been leased by J. R. Hagan, who will move to the place as soon as it is vacated by Mr. Schumacher. Mr. Hagan figures that the new place will give him a much better chance to display his goods than where he is now located and having more room will make it possible to carry a larger and better stock of furniture.

The moving picture show given by Barnsdale at the opera house on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week were first class in every respect. The pictures were shown without the usual flicker that is customary on such occasions and were consequently much more pleasing to witness. The crowds in attendance were not very large, but those who did witness them were loud in their praise.

HAD A LARGE CROWD

Many People From Surrounding Towns Came to Hear William J. Bryan.

The opera house was filled to its limit Friday evening on the occasion of the speech by William Jennings Bryan, and those who heard him were unanimous in their praise of the speech that he made.

Mr. Bryan was introduced by Attorney W. J. Conway, who did the business in a most pleasing manner. Then Mr. Bryan got up and addressed his hearers in a conversational tone and in a very simple manner, using no language that the ordinary school child could not understand as easily as a grown person.

His talk was not a connected description of his travels in the old world, but he skipped about from place to place and gave the incidents and customs that impressed him most. Some of his descriptions were quite humorous, especially those in which he described the royal personages of the old country.

He also told of the religion and customs of the different countries in which he visited, as well as the educational institutions and the progress they had along this time. Taken altogether it was a most entertaining talk, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Death of Silas Ward.

Silas Ward, one of the old settlers of this city, died on Friday evening after an illness of one week, cause of death being pneumonia.

Deceased was seventy-one years old, and leaves a wife and two sons. He was a veteran of the civil war, having been a member of Co. C, 7th Wisconsin Infantry.

The funeral services were held from the home on 8th street on Monday afternoon, being in charge of the G. A. R. post of this city. Rev. Dean of the Christian church conducted the services.

Prof. Parlin to Lecture.

Prof. C. C. Parlin of Wausau will lecture at the Lincoln school Friday evening, March 1st, on "The Wonders of Greece." This lecture will be illustrated by about 75 stereopticon views. The lecturer will also show about 20 views on Naples and the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius.

Prof. Parlin who traveled in Greece last summer, took many of these views himself. It is an interesting lecture, and those who hear him will make no mistake.

The Wausau Daily Record says of the lecture: "Not every man who stands upon the platform has the happy faculty of almost unconsciously tapping his audience with him, making them forgetful of the time and space, and so introducing them to the sight and incidents of a foreign trip that they become a part of it, as did Principal Parlin that evening."

The lecture was punctuated with a humor that was all the more appreciated, because it was not expected. Principal Parlin proved himself a model traveler, and an adept in slight seeing.

Admission, adult 25c, children 10c. Proceeds will go for the benefit of the high school.

Latorelle-Young

Miss Eva Latorelle and William Young were married on Tuesday evening at the office of Justice H. L. Brown, that gentleman performing the ceremony. Both of the contracting parties are well known in this city.

Only Nineteen Survivors Found on Black Island—Story of Collision With the Schooner Knowlton.

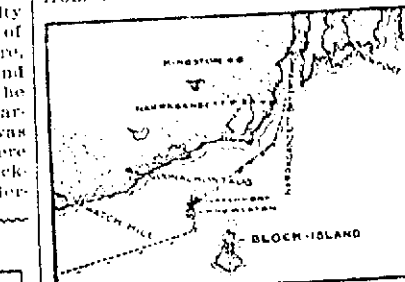

Block Island, R. I. — Just how many persons lost their lives in the sinking of the Joy liner Larchmont in Black Island sound through a collision with the three-masted schooner Harry Knowlton may never be accurately known. A conservative estimate of the number who lost their lives is placed at 140. Over 70 bodies have been washed ashore on the same beach where the survivors landed.

Only Two Women Survivors. — There were only two women among the survivors, Mrs. Harry Knowlton of New York, and Miss Sarah Gallup of Boston.

That any one should have been able to go through those terrible hours of Tuesday morning, when the temperature was at zero and a northwest gale was hurling frozen spray into the little boats, was perhaps one of the most surprising features of the disaster.

Nearly all the surviving passengers interviewed agreed that with the first officers behaved well, and the shock and the rush of water and escape of steam from the broken main steam pipe, Captain McVey reached the scope of the accident. The crew was called to quarters, each man springing to his station as the call to desert the ship was heard.

deck and mobbed the boats and raft, men and women fighting each other, forgetful of all but the primal instinct of self-preservation. Some of the passengers recovered from the first fright and assisted in the work of caring for the worse off, and children first. Many were suffocated below in their quarters by the steam, or drowned beneath the deck.

The Larchmont left Providence well laden with freight and a crew estimated at about 20 and a passenger list, which even the officers of the company, by the most accurate calculation, are unable to place accurately, the figures ranging from 75 to 200. Cities and towns in southern New England have already contributed a list of missing inhabitants thought to have been on board, and that total nearly 70, and it is believed that today will bring material additions to the list.

A large number of the missing were from Providence and other towns from which the ship was chartered, and even the officers of the company, by the most accurate calculation, are unable to place accurately, the figures ranging from 75 to 200. Cities and towns in southern New England have already contributed a list of missing inhabitants thought to have been on board, and that total nearly 70, and it is believed that today will bring material additions to the list.

Salvation Pray as Ship Sinks. — As the ship sank, those last to have been a little band of salvation army workers from Worcester.

This band of salvationists, said to have numbered ten persons, furnished, according to reports, one of the thrilling incidents of the disaster. When it was evident that the boat must sink, the frozen passengers were encouraged to get into the boats, the salvationists are said to have fallen on their knees, where they joined in prayer, invoking the Almighty to save and protect the shipwrecked people and the little band, a woman.

Only one of the survivors, a woman, by the line officials have begun an investigation of the collision. What rests upon the decision of the United States inspectors and will probably take place in this city. It will be the duty of the officials to place the blame of the disaster and report to the department of commerce.

Worst Disaster in Years. — The disaster was one of the most terrible that has occurred on the New England coast since the steamer Portland went down with all on board in 1898, and the wreckage in some respects resembles the sinking of the French steamer Buranese, through a collision with the British ship Comarabryne on the Grand Banks in 1898.

WALKER STOLE $565,000.

NEW BRITAIN BANK STILL HAS $143,000 SURPLUS.

Mayor Asks Removal of Bank Commissioner for Neglect of Duty and Incompetency.

New Britain, Conn. — William F. Walker, the missing treasurer of the Savings Bank of New Britain, took more than half a million dollars' worth of securities from the bank vaults according to a statement issued by the directors Wednesday. The directors met late in the afternoon, after the collateral in the bank had been examined by State Bank Commissioner Kendall and Noble. Commissioners Kendall and Noble. There is left a surplus of about $143,000 and above the amount due to depositors, the actual shortage being $565,000. The directors believe the greater part of the securities will be recovered.

As the bank commissioners were preparing a statement to give to the directors, Mayor George M. Landers sent a letter to Gov. Woodruff asking that Commissioner Kendall be removed from office on the ground of neglect of duty and incompetency. He pointed out in this letter that when Mr. Kendall began an examination of the affairs of the bank last Thursday, Treasurer Walker, on a plain of illness, left the bank and Commissioner Kendall did not continue his work, but returned home to wait Walker's convenience, knowing at the time that the latter did not return home that day.

The alleged wrongdoings of Mr. Walker has created a tremendous sensation. He was held in the highest esteem by a church officer and a citizen who apparently lived quietly. He was not known to be interested in stock investments of any kind or in any outside enterprises. For about 27 years he had been a bank officer and was under bonds of $20,000. The bank had deposits of upwards of $5,000,000.

WARSHIPS PATTERNS BURNED.

Fire in Cramps Shipyard Causes Almost Irreparable Loss.

Philadelphia. — An almost irreparable loss was sustained by the William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building company in a fire at their yard Wednesday, which destroyed the pattern shops and two storage rooms. At least 75 per cent. of the company's patterns were destroyed, according to H. W. Hand, superintendent of the company. Among the patterns destroyed were those of the United States battleships, including the Colorado, Tennessee, Maine, Alabama, Iowa, Massachusetts and Indiana. Patterns for a number of vessels in course of construction were also lost and work on them will be delayed.

Philadelphians.

The headquarters of the Shipyards' association and the home of Julius Gausch, and damaged many small dwellings. Several firemen were hurt by falling walls while fighting the flames. The monetary loss is estimated between $100,000 and $150,000. The origin of the fire is not known.

THE LAST MIGRATION.

Their last migration was to America and Australia, nearly three centuries later. The gypsies were mostly English gypsies, although many of them came from the continent of Europe. But whatever nationality a tribe belongs to, it retained the Roman language, the language common to all gypsies. This is not a simple jargon, but a language of its own, and complete and perfect in its structure. It is a language of its own, and complete and perfect in its structure. It is a language of its own, and complete and perfect in its structure.

One of Their Chief Sources of Income.

gypsies must number well into the millions, for in Roumania alone and in various parts of the Balkan regions, Hungary and Russia, there are over 500,000.

No Change.

Edgar inadvertently swallowed a silver quarter dollar, for which the village doctors probed in vain. Some one asked his small brother if he had swallowed the coin. He answered, "No, sir," but covering the fact, he evidently took the coin from the pocket of his father, an instance of a bad name clinging to a people through centuries.

Starch in Grains.

The percentage of starch in the wheat flour, 66 per cent.; corn meal, 74 per cent.; rice, 79 per cent.; meal, 69 per cent. The order of digestibility is as follows: Rice, corn, wheat, rye.

Origin Hard to Trace.

Of their own origin the gypsies can give no exact account, many of them following the popular belief that they came originally from Egypt. The Saracens, the Jews, the Canaanites, the lost tribes of Israel, or the mixed

AMONG CRANBERRY MEN.

EDITED BY J. A. GAYNOR.

A Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

We regard the problem of marketing as solved, at least for Wisconsin, and it will not be under the leading subject of discussion in these columns hereafter. Considerable work remains to be done on the Cape and in New Jersey, but the foundation for success there is laid and right, and the spirit of co-operation is growing steadily, and in due time Eastern States Companies will be masters of the situation.

We have a few growers in Wisconsin that are members of our sales company, and who may not unite with us, but they are not sufficiently numerous nor powerful to be able to exert an appreciable influence on the market. They have no registered brands, and if any of them had such brands, they have not enough berries to make them known to the general public. They must, therefore, sell on the basis of the name of the company. The sales company must be able to do this, and the only way to do this is to have a large volume of berries to sell. A Very Important Amendment.

There are two things being considered by the state legislature which concern every citizen of the state and particularly every farmer, and concerning which every one should feel his local representative know his feelings.

One of these is joint resolution No. 22 S., which aims to amend the constitution to permit the state to aid in building country roads. At present the farmers pay the entire cost of constructing these roads, and strange as it may seem there is an opposition in some parts to any change in this unjust system. The situation recalls Macaulay's statement of conditions in England in 1833 when Parliament passed the first turnpike act and raised the opposition of the people.

It is unbelievable that the people of Wisconsin will be so shortsighted as to fail to appreciate the justice of state aid for highway construction. At one end of every road is the farmer with his crops for sale. At the other end is the city with its people waiting for trade and its railways waiting for goods to transport. To whose advantage is it to have a road for the farmer to come to town? It is to the advantage of the city and the farmer.

Hiles, Frank Shafer, Will Hiles, John Monegan Sr. and Buford Hiles, who after looking over the ground and viewing the remains, came to the conclusion that the deceased came to his death from natural causes. Dr. Hiles, who was the physician at the time, said the deceased had been ill for some time and had been in bed for several days.

Should the City Own the Light Plant?

This is a question that will be submitted to the citizens of Grand Rapids at the coming spring election. The question is whether it will be better for the corporation to own the plant than it is to have it run on a co-operative plan, as has been the case since it was established. We have seen that the present method is the better of the two. Where the plant is owned by a private individual, it is run for the purpose of making a profit out of its operation. We think that it would be better for the city to own it, but the manner in which it is run now, there are no profits for anybody, and as long as it is managed in good shape, we think it is more equitable for everybody concerned.

There is one matter in which the city fathers are laboring under a misapprehension. They seem to think that if the city owned the plant that the municipality would get the most out of it. It is undoubtedly a fact, however, that it costs money to generate electricity, and if the city does not pay for what it uses, it will have to be paid for by taxes. It will have to be paid for by taxes.

THE PLACE TO BUY

That's the most important question that confronts the present day clothing buyer. Important because today there are nine-tenths of the clothing manufacturers who use mixed goods (cotton and wool) and endeavor to palm it off as pure wool. They use poor materials and tack on a fancy price and the inexperienced buyer cannot tell the deception while the clothes are new. It takes a few weeks of wear to enlighten him and then it's too late. Why place your confidence in a make of clothing you know nothing about? Wouldn't it be cheaper and more satisfactory to come to us for your clothing needs? We will fit you right, treat you right and guarantee the clothes to be just as represented, and WE'RE HERE TO MAKE GOOD IF THEY'RE NOT. Therefore the place to buy is here.

Suits From $5 up to $25.

Big Fire at Marshfield.
The mill of the Roddis Veneer Co. at Marshfield burned to the ground on Sunday night, the property being a total loss. The plant was a big one, employing about a hundred and seventy-five men, and W. H. Roddis was one of the principal stockholders.

E. W. Kruger transacted business at Marshfield on Tuesday.

Allen Doone in Joe Murphy's Great Play.

"The Kerry Gow" Joseph Murphy's famous play, with Allen Doone, Ireland's sweet singing comedian, in the cast as Dan O'Hara is to be presented at the Grand Opera House Monday Feb. 25.

The Kerry Gow, is interwoven with the most charming touches of nature, brightness and artistic excellence. It tells of Dan O'Hara's and pretty Nora Drow's love for each other, he is the Kerry Blacksmith (Kerry Gow) the Drow's are threatened with the foreclosure of a mortgage on their home, which is held by Valentine Hay, who has offered his love to Nora. When he is refused, Hay uses every possible means to crush the Drow's and O'Hara.

He employs men to hide pikes in O'Hara's forge, and sends word to the English soldiers that O'Hara is making pikes for the rebels. In those days this meant death. They arrest O'Hara, but he escapes. Hay intends foreclosing, but young Drew has a thoroughbred which if it wins a certain race will sell for enough money to pay off the debt. Hay sends away and gets the greatest race horse in the country, to beat Drew's horse. The news of the race is carried to the Drow home by carrier pigeons. Drew's horse wins, and he sells it for enough to pay off the mortgage, while Hay and his henchmen are dragged to jail for conspiracy.

The company supporting Mr. Doone, is excellent and have been with Mr. Murphy for years. A car

OVERALL FACTORY.

During the past week G. M. Thomas of Princeton was in the city for several days and on Thursday he rented the Lowery building on the east side for the purpose of starting an overall factory. It is the intention to put in about thirty machines at first, as this is all the building will accommodate, and later on, if the business will warrant it the capacity of the plant will be enlarged.

The name of the new concern is the Thomas Overall Company.

Mr. Thomas stated, when here that it was not the intention to move the Princeton concern to this city for the present at least, the object of their branching out from Princeton being that they could not secure the help necessary there, as the town is not large enough to supply the number of girls they use in an institution of this sort. They expect to open their factory with thirty machines, and have engaged electrical power for the operation of them.

It is expected that their machines will arrive today and that they will commence the installation at once, and expect to be ready to commence operations by the following Monday unless something unforeseen happens. Another point that the managers of the plant expect to benefit by in this city is our exceptional shipping facilities, which cannot be excelled in any city in the state.

Erected a Soldiers Monument.

R. A. Weeks returned last week from Wautoma where he had been with his crew of helpers to erect a soldiers monument in the center yard of that city.

The money for the new monument, which cost about $800, was partly made up by an appropriation by the county board, donations by the Grand Army Post and Wautoma Relief Corps and subscriptions by private citizens.

The monument is 23 feet high and the base and cap are of Barre granite and the die and shaft of Montello granite, while on top is the figure of a soldier at parade rest made of sheet metal bronze. It is a very neat monument and is one that the citizens of Wautoma county should be proud of.

While away Mr. Weeks and his men erected a number of monuments, about two carloads in all. He reports that business in his line has been very good.

Frequent Callers.

In our office from out of town people all get on to the same topic of the growth of our city. Our wonderful railroad facilities, central location in the state and perfect climate. By the way, the town is on. We can run to-day two first class stores at fancy rents for good stocks of goods if we had them.

Two applicants this week from merchants out of town who want to come and can't because we cannot find a store building vacant that is suitable.

We told you the boom was here and this proves it.

Take one dope and buy while you can. Cloverdale is the best location. High and dry. Fine streets and lots all staked out and an alley to every lot.

$100 buys a fine lot and you pay $5 down and $5 each month with no taxes or interest the first year.

Truly Wonderful Fruit.

The Tribune is in receipt of a convenient postal card from George W. Paulus, who, with his wife and family, is now spending a short time at San Diego, Cal. The card contains a picture of a flat car, on which lies a watermelon, and the watermelon is as long as the car, and about fifteen feet in diameter.

Mr. Paulus states that the seeds from one of these watermelons is as large as a meat platter. Probably Mr. Paulus will bring a few of the seeds back with him in the spring and convince us of the truth of the statement. It is queer how short a time a man has to be in the west before his ideas begin to enlarge.

"The Popular Lecture and Entertainment Course."

Leo J. Baechamp sick and unable to fill his engagement next Saturday evening. He will appear later. To compensate the local management for their extra trouble and expense of advertising, Wm. H. Smith and Mr. Baechamp, who failed to fill their dates as announced, "The National Ladies Quartet." They will appear the date on which Baechamp was announced, next Saturday eve Feb. 23. This is an extra number to meet additional expense on the part of the local management and they have decided in order to give the people who have supported the course, and to fill the house on short notice, to cut the price right in two, 25 and 15c.

The National Ladies Quartet is one of the strongest companies sent out by the Lyceum Bureau. Their quartet work, instrumental and vocal solos are the finest, while their render is not forgotten, but the less familiar and no less popular folk-songs of other nations are also sung in peasant costume and form a most novel and instructive feature. Among these are the Irish, Scotch, Swedish, Spanish, Italian, Japanese and Gypsy, and also plantation melodies of our own land in costume. One of the original and striking specialties is "The Federation of Plagues" copyrighted 1905, by Rhoda Hall Behrmer.

This is as good as the Eva Bartlett Macy Company. Leo nobody, and this treat when under the circumstances you can hear it for half price. As the Methodist church. No reserved seats. You will see and hear it for half price. You will see and hear perfectly from any part of the room.

A Change in Location.

J. T. Schumacher has been making the preparations for a change in location for sometime past, and he reports to the Tribune that all arrangements have now been completed. He has leased the new store building in the Wood County National Bank block, and also the store in which W. H. Barnes is now located, and expects to move into his new quarters about the first of May. An archway will be cut through one store to the other, and this will give him frontage on both streets.

The new store will be used for a dry goods department, and after a new front is put in the place where the candy kitchen is now located, this will be used for groceries and gent's furnishing goods. He expects to also have the basement under the old building so arranged that he can use it as a bargain department.

The Wassau Daily Record says of the lecture:—"Not every man who stands upon the platform has the happy faculty of almost unconsciously taking his audience with him, making them forgetful of the time and space, and so introducing them to the sight and incidents of a foreign trip that they become a part of it, as did Principal Parlin last evening."

The lecture was punctuated with a humor that was all the more appreciated, because it was not expected. Principal Parlin proved himself a model traveler, and an adept in eight weeks.

Admission, adult 25c, children 15c. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the high school.

Gave a Good Show.

The moving picture show given by Barnesdale at the opera house on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week were first class in every respect. The pictures were shown without the usual flicker that is customary on such occasions and were consequently much more pleasing to witness. The crowds in attendance were not very large, but those who did witness them were lost in their praise.

Many People From Surrounding Towns Come to Hear William J. Bryan.

The opera house was filled to its limit Friday evening on the occasion of the speech by William Jennings Bryan, and those who heard him were unanimous in their praise of the speech that he made.

Mr. Bryan was introduced by Attorney W. J. Conway, who did the business in a most pleasing manner. Then Mr. Bryan got up and addressed his hearers in a conversational tone and in a very simple manner, using no language that the ordinary school child could not understand as easily as a grown person.

His talk was not a connected description of his travels in the old world, but he slipped about from place to place and gave the incidents and customs that impressed him most. Some of his descriptions were quite humorous, especially those in which he described his presentation to the different royal personages of the old country.

He also told of the religion and customs of the different countries in which he visited, as well as the educational institutions and the progress they had along this line. Taken altogether it was a most entertaining talk, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Death of Silas Ward.

Silas Ward, one of the old settlers of this city, died on Friday evening after an illness of one week, cause of death being pneumonia.

Deceased was seventy-one years old and leaves a wife to mourn his loss. He was a veteran of the civil war, having been a member of Co. G, 7th Wisconsin Infantry.

The funeral services were held from the home on 8th street on Monday afternoon, being at 2 o'clock of the G. A. R. post of this city. Rev. Dean of the Christian church conducted the services.

Prof. Parlin to Lecture.

Prof. C. G. Parlin of Wausau will lecture at the Lincoln school Friday evening, March 1st, on "The Wonders of Greece." This lecture will be illustrated by about 75 stereoscopic views. The lecturer will also show about 20 views on Japan and the Hawaiian Islands.

Prof. Parlin who traveled in Greece last summer, took many of these views himself. It is an interesting lecturer and those who hear him will make no mistake.

Advertising on a Large Scale.

The advertising care from Stanislaus county, Cal., have been in the city since Saturday, and during their three days in this city they were visited by a large number of people, most of whom pronounced the exhibit well worth seeing, the admission price being only fifteen cents.

One method of advertising pursued by the managers is to send out to the farmers wives on the rural routes in this vicinity four hundred free tickets. Of course when the women come in to visit the show they generally bring another member of the family with her and all those who have free tickets are required to register their names and address. These names and addresses are sent in and later the farmer receives literature from the home office which tells all the advantages of the country in a most favorable manner, and thus they are enabled to reach just the kind of people who are in the agricultural business and who might be induced to change with a view to bettering their condition.

Like many of the sections in the west, Stanislaus county is an irrigated tract, and the cost of irrigation is charged up against the land for a period of forty years, and the cost is the more acres the less. To pay $100 an acre to have the land watered seems like a large amount to a person who has always lived in a country where the rainfall is amply sufficient for this purpose every year. However, the crops raised are large and without the irrigation it is hard to do much in the agricultural line, so that it about even up in the end.
